Gentlemen.

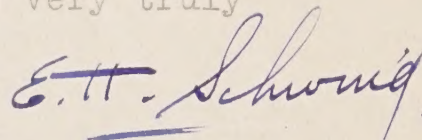

In July 1926 it is my intention to visit the United States bringing with me a collection of coins including Ancient Greek, Romain and Modern European pieces for disposal.

I would thank you if you could inform me which of these series are most appreciated at the present time and also, if possible to give me a list of the most important collectioners so I could communicate with them before my depart.

This collection will be composed of only rare pieces which are Fleur de Coin and are being assembled by the most important Numismatic houses of Paris including Ciani, Rollan and others.

Thanking you for the favor of a favorable reply, I beg to remain

Yours very truly

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of February 10th with regard to bringing your collection of coins to the United States.

You would be apt to sell more readily in this country medium priced and nice Greek and Roman coins than almost any other series. Mediaeval and modern European coins in gold and large-size silver sell here to some extent. Oddities also sell well.

The rules of this Society preclude us from furnishing names of collectors; these names you will have to obtain from other sources. I would suggest your corresponding with Mr. Moritz Wormser, 95 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Very truly yours,

Curator
